

CALL FOR PAPERS
THE INTERPRETERS' NEWSLETTER
ISSUE 27 (2022)

Editors: Emanuele Brambilla (University of Trieste) and Claudio Bendazzoli (University of Turin)

The first issue of The Interpreters' Newsletter appeared in 1988, when the scientific study of interpretation was “emerging from its infancy” (Crevatin 1988: 1) and manifesting its interdisciplinary nature. By drawing especially on general linguistics and neurosciences, that first issue set out the journal's mission to explain “the interpreter's ability to carry out extremely complicated operations requiring remarkable psycho-motor co-ordination” (Ibidem). Since then, “the discipline has [...] come of age” (Garzone/Viezzi 2002: 2), experiencing different turns (Pöchhacker 2008), exploring new professional contexts and harnessing innovative methodological resources to describe an increasingly diversified and constantly evolving profession.

With a view to carrying on the tradition of the first journal on Interpreting Studies, issue 27 of The Interpreters' Newsletter welcomes submissions that contribute to describing interpreting activity in all the situational contexts in which it is required, by using either traditional or innovative analytical methodologies.
