INSIDE THE NATURE JOURNALS: AN EDITOR'S EYE VIEW OF SCHOLARLY COMMUNICATION

Nicky Dean, CHIEF EDITOR, NATURE ENERGY

Friday 18th December 2020, at 6:30pm
in streaming on Zoom

The publication of scientific papers is a key part of academic life, yet the process can often appear opaque. Meanwhile, the needs and requirements of publishing and communication are constantly changing. At the Nature Research journals, these tasks are overseen by professional editors who have migrated from the lab for an alternative career that still serves science. This talk will give an overview of how the Nature Research journals operate, how they are trying to meet the new challenges of the day, and the role that their editors play in all this. It will describe what is needed to produce an issue of a journal and discuss some of the initiatives that have been implemented to address the needs of the different research communities we serve.
